FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER EXAMINATIONS

Terrance M. O Reilly, Director Administrative Appeals Office DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the director and is now before the Associate Commissioner, Examinations, on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a board and care home for the elderly. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a "social & human service assistant" for a three-year period. The director determined the petitioner had not established that the offered position is a specialty occupation.

On appeal, counsel states that the position offered is complex or unique enough to require at least a baccalaureate level of study. Counsel further states that the very nature of the job can only be performed effectively by people with at least a baccalaureate degree.

Section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1184(i)(1), defines a "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(C), to qualify to perform services in a specialty occupation, the alien must meet one of the following criteria:

- 1. Hold a United States baccalaureate or higher degree required by the specialty occupation from an accredited college or university;
- 2. Hold a foreign degree determined to be equivalent to a United States baccalaureate or higher degree required by the specialty occupation from an accredited college or university;
- 3. Hold an unrestricted State license, registration, or certification which authorizes him or her to fully practice the specialty occupation and be immediately engaged in that specialty in the state of intended employment; or
- 4. Have education, specialized training, and/or progressively responsible experience that is equivalent to completion of a United States baccalaureate or higher degree in the specialty occupation and have recognition of expertise in the specialty through progressively responsible positions directly related to the specialty.

The beneficiary holds a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree from the University of San Carlos in the Philippines.

The term "specialty occupation" is defined at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(ii) as:

an occupation which requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge in fields of human endeavor including, but not limited to, architecture, engineering, mathematics. sciences. social sciences, medicine and health, education, business specialties, accounting, theology, and the arts, and which requires the attainment of a bachelor's degree or higher in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A), to qualify as a specialty occupation, the position must meet one of the following criteria:

- 1. A baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the particular position;
- 2. The degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations or, in the alternative, an employer may show that its particular position is so complex or unique that it can be performed only by an individual with a degree;
- 3. The employer normally requires a degree or its equivalent for the position; or
- 4. The nature of the specific duties is so specialized and complex that knowledge required to perform the duties is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree.

The duties of the offered position are described as:

The position of Social and Human Service Assistant which the petitioner intends to employ must assist, coordinate and cooperate with the doctors, nurses and psychologists in the organization. Provide direct and indirect patient services. Assess, assist and coordinate patients' needs, establish their eligibility for benefits and services, and help patients' obtain them, including medicaid, welfare and other human service programs. Monitor and keep case records on patients and report progress to doctors. Review patients' records, ensure they take correct doses of medication and confer with medical personnel to gain better insights into patients backgrounds and needs. Help patients master everyday living skills and teach them how to communicate more effectively and get along better with others. Assist and coordinate in the planning, policy making and implement government regulations within the premises. Assist and provide a healthy environment by means of psychological, social and spiritual well-being to all patients including their daily health care needs. Participate in health care programs and activities of other health organizations including those given by the government agencies. Assist in the transaction and negotiation with other health care providers and hospitals on the use of their special equipments and facilities which will be needed by the patients of the company. Assist, cooperate and coordinate with the authorized health officers or agents of the in their inspections or visits of facilities and premises of the company. Perform other services that may be assigned or needed from her from time to time by the management of the company.

The petitioner has failed to establish that any of the four factors enumerated above are present in this proceeding. The petitioner has not shown that it has, in the past, required the services of individuals with baccalaureate or higher degrees for the offered position. In addition, the petitioner has not shown that similar facilities require the services of such individuals in parallel positions.

In this case, the duties outlined by the petitioner are mainly those that would be accomplished by a registered nurse. The Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook (Handbook), 2000-2001 edition, at pages 211-212 finds no requirement of a baccalaureate or higher degree in a specialized area for employment as a registered nurse. Some registered nurses hold baccalaureate degrees while others hold diplomas or associate (two-year) degrees. Additionally, the Handbook indicates that attempts to raise the educational requirements for a registered nursing license to a baccalaureate degree in nursing have not been successful. In view of the foregoing, it is concluded that the petitioner has not demonstrated that the offered position is a specialty occupation within the meaning of regulations.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act. 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
